

First name:	Surname:	What motivated you to put yourself forward for election to the Branch committee?	What qualities, skills and experience do you think you'll bring to the Branch committee?
Paul	Bradley	To continue to be a valued member of the branch committee	Enthusiasm and willingness to get involved
James	Elliott	Having attended an APMTV event in March 2022, I saw first hand the awesome work the committee does in promoting and improving the project management network in the Thames Valley region. Having spoken with Steve, I think I can bring my ex-military experience to the committee, working to further promote the opportunities for service members leaving the Armed Forces looking for a second career in project management. Some great work has already been done in this space, and with the current committee member moving on, I hope to take this forward and build on the success that's already been achieved.	Qualities & Skills - I'm motivated, a good communicator, organised, and passionate about the project profession. Alongside my role in the project professional, I also work as a writer for the APM. This means I have an established network of contacts within the APM who I can lean on to further enhance the ex-military offering of the TVB. Experience - I've been involved in organising events before, both professionally and personally, including professional networking events during my time at TUI. I've also previously presented webinars and run internal training on project management, so I'm confident to host/co-host if required.
Steven	Hoesli	To give something back to an industry that has served me so well. When I picked up the chair role the committee was a little rudderless with great people but little direction; we have made massive strides in the last year but I feel I can drive the branch to even greater heights.	35 years in the profession in multiple industries, I pride myself on enabling people to maximise their input and outcomes which I feel has been demonstrated in my first year as chair
Grant	Kane	I would like to continue with the work I have been doing with TVB and seeing the branch grow and develop	Time and energy. I would like to see my experience from leaving HMF passed on to other service leavers interested in a career in Project management

Nick	Stepanov	I am motivated to help other young professionals understand how vital our profession is and how it drives the economy. When I was choosing a profession it was challenging to understand what project management is and I want to help others solve the same challenge. My other motivator is to meet people across the industry to exchange good practices and learn from one another. I am keen to learn how project management is done across the industry and how APM helps to shape it.	I have been a young professional lead for project management for the last two years of project management based on APM. This provided me with thorough knowledge of the APM processes and frameworks. In the last two years, I have been building my Data Analytics capability whilst working as a Project Manager. I have a good understanding of what our data looks like and what to do with it. In general, I enjoy playing around with Project Management data and building systems. I am also a curious person who is constantly questioning the status quo. This enables me to act as a driver for project momentum and innovation. I am open-minded, approachable and enjoy networking with people.
Kathy	Stevenson	Continue the work I do on the PMC	Integrity, collaboration,

Steve	Walters	Previous experience of working with TVB and ongoing involvement with various HEIs in the region, involvement in organising events.	Continuity and depth of knowledge, being a long standing member of TVB committee. Much experience of APM committees (SIG and Branch) and involvement with the National HEI forum, Speciality skills in Stakeholder Engagement. I was a Peer Reviewer of BoK7 before publication. Cross linkage to People SIG / SEFG.
James	White	I have been a member of the APM for over ten years and am very passionate about being a committee member and getting involved with my local Thames Valley branch. I believe it will be fun and exciting with an opportunity to develop others and my own skills in project, programme and portfolio management. Being part of the APM community is something I am very passionate about and if I can support and influence in a positive and productive way then I will feel that I have achieved some good. I plan to enjoy myself and take others on a similar journey of promoting and improving the APM in any way I can.	Many years' experience delivering and providing fit-for-purpose approaches to how portfolios of complex capital programmes and projects are initiated and will be controlled throughout the lifecycle in highly regulated, hazardous and safety-critical environments. An experienced and accomplished leader and stakeholder manager at the project delivery and executive/political levels will support the Thames Valley branch committee and members in the delivery of their vision and mission.
